COUNTDOWN TO JUBILEE

By Oliver Evans

BANBURY is getting ready for a right royal knees-up after plans were revealed for next month's Diamond Jubilee celebrations.

A host of street parties, including one which organisers hope will smash UK records, will honour The Queen's 60 years on the throne.

Banbury Town Council hopes the Sunday, June 3, party in Market Place for 1,000 youngsters will be the biggest of its kind.

The event, for three- to 11-year-olds, will feature rides, food, balloons and face painting and Hook Norton Brass Band, from 1.30pm to 4.30pm.

Brass band musical director Jenny Barrie said: "We will be playing all sorts of music to make the party go with a swing."

Royal date to take root with trees

YOUNGSTERS from Queensway School planted trees to commemorate The Queen's Diamond Jubilee.

They planted fruit trees in Banbury's Browning Park. These were donated by the public to commemorate their special memories.

The Year Three youngsters have also been involved in the refurbishment of the park, maintained by Banbury Town Council.

Teaching assistant Hilary Mulford said: "It has been a good experience for the children to come here, plant some trees, and be present at the start of the jubilee orchard."

The council will add plaques to the trees with the memory of the resident who donated it.

"We are really pleased to be asked and be part of it."

News clips from 1952, compiled by youngsters from Frank Wise special school, will be shown on a big screen.

Pupils have used the magic of special effects to appear alongside the footage to interact and comment on the events of yesteryear.

The screen will also show footage from the 1953 Coronation, The Queen's wedding to Prince Philip, and a live feed of celebrations in London.

Tickets – designed to look like a 1950s ration book – are available from Banbury Town Hall, Bridge Street, or on 01295 250340.

Residents have also applied to Cherwell District Council to hold street parties during the June 2 to 5 national celebrations.

In Banbury, these are in Queens Road,

Beargarden Road, Market Place, Lime Avenue, Burlington Gardens, The Byeway, Bretch Hill and Glamis Place.

Parties have also been planned for Blackwood Place, Bodicote; Mere Road, Finmere; The Green, Hornton; Main Street, Hanwell; Green Lane, South Newington; Acre Ditch, Sibford Ferris, and School Lane, Wiggington.

On the Sunday evening, a bonfire will be lit at 10.15pm in Spiceball Park as part of a series of 4,000 beacons to be lit across the UK.

Fireworks will then cap off the free town council celebration, which will start at 9pm with music from Radio Horton.

And on that day, St Mary's Church in Horsefair, will play seven new tunes from a new carillon bell, chosen by Banbury residents.

Gillett & Johnston, of Croydon, have installed the bell and also repaired one that it provided in 1897 to mark Queen Victoria's Diamond Jubilee.

The new tunes will include Ride a Cock Horse to Banbury Cross, God Save The Queen and Amazing Grace.

A rededication ceremony will take place on Saturday, June 2, at the church at 6pm.

Town council leader Kieron Mallon said sponsors and fundraising would cover all the costs of its two events.

He said: "The town will be a riot of red, white and blue."

"The programme of events shows the whole of Banburyshire is getting fully behind the Jubilee weekend."

■ Concerns over pupils' achievements

Ofsted report tells school: must do better

A BANBURY primary school has been issued with a notice to improve after inspectors raised concerns about pupils' achievement.

Orchard Fields Primary School, in Edmunds Road, was given an "inadequate" rating by Ofsted for its overall effectiveness and achievement of pupils.

But it received "satisfactory" gradings for teaching, behaviour and safety of pupils, and leadership and management.

It follows poor results in last summer's Key Stage 2 SATs examinations, with just 47 per cent of children achieving the expected level four in both English and maths.

The Government floor target is 60 per cent, meaning the school has already been warned it is likely to be forced to become a sponsored academy.

By Fran Bardsley

In his report, Rodney Braithwaite said: "Although the school has made some significant improvements since the arrival of the new headteacher, it is still not a satisfactory school because the achievement and progress of pupils are not yet consistent across the school."

He said there had been a marked improvement in terms of teaching standards, but there was still not enough good teaching.

But he praised new headteacher Dawn Shilston, who started in January, and said she was leading the school with "determination and success to improve the education offered to pupils, concentrating especially on the leadership of teaching and improving the school's performance."

Oxfordshire County Council schools improvement cabinet member Melinda Tilley said discussions were ongoing about a change to academy status.

She said: "We are very pleased with what Ofsted has said about the new leadership."

"When a school goes into Ofsted categories, it's always a bit of a wake-up call."

"You always need to take it seriously and do something about it."

A notice to improve is less serious than special measures, Ofsted's most serious sanction.

■ Banbury School has been praised by Ofsted inspectors following an unannounced inspection.

After the monitoring in March, the school was told that it was making good progress in making improvements and the children's behaviour was getting better.

At its last full inspection, in September 2010, the school was described as "satisfactory".

The school, which is federated with Dashwood Primary School, was among the first in the county to gain approval to convert to academy status but has not yet taken the step.

It is planned that both schools will become academies in August or September.

Tony brings a smile to train travel

RAIL staff have a cunning plan for new announcements.

Passengers on trains through Oxfordshire will be treated to comedy timing thanks to Blackadder star Tony Robinson.

Mr Robinson, who played dim-witted Baldric in the show, spent a month giving Chiltern Railways workers tips on how to deliver comedic announcements specially penned by sitcom writer Richard Preddy.

Gone are the straight-laced announcements about stations along the Birmingham-to-London Marylebone route, which includes Banbury station.

Instead, commuters will hear a series of one-liners designed to put a smile on even the grumpiest Monday morning face.

They include:
● "Next stop:

Actor Tony Robinson launches the amusing Chiltern Railways witty one-liners

Banbury, which is famous for its canals. It's a little known fact that Banbury actually has fewer canals than Venice."

Passengers will also be invited to join in an interactive game calling out when they see a horse, and offered pearls of wisdom such as: "If you're at work and you're not sure what to do, just walk quickly and look worried."

The move has been welcomed by passengers.

Chris Bates, of the Cherrwell Rail Users Group, said: "It's a good bit of marketing."

But he said it might not have the same effect if the train was running late.

Mr Preddy, who wrote the sitcom Green Wing, said: "The feedback so far has been just fantastic."

Convicted paedophile is jailed over child pictures

A CONVICTED paedophile began downloading hundreds of images of child abuse just months after being released from prison.

Darren Hawkins was found with hundreds of photos that had been accessed in the same year he was released from a 21-month jail term.

The 42-year-old was jailed in 2008 for 26 offences of viewing and sharing indecent images of children and was released in January 2009.

But when police raided his home in December 2010 they found three laptops containing 380 illegal images.

On Monday, Hawkins, of Broome Way, Banbury, was sentenced at Oxford Crown Court having earlier admitted five counts of making indecent images of children.

Prosecutor Sandra Beck said 64 of the images were rated at level four and two were at level five, the most serious category.

Claire Fraser, defending, said her client described his problem "as an addiction" carried out when surfing the Internet after drinking.

She said: "When he's had alcohol he finds it very hard to stop. In his mind he views it as an addiction."

Miss Fraser said Hawkins' "support network" stopped at the end of his licence period after his release from prison.

Judge Patrick Eccles said some of the images were "disgraceful and perverted" and jailed Hawkins for 20 months.

iPhone app helps revive bird Tweet, tweet bird is saved

By Andrew Ffrench

THIS is something to "Tweet" about! Birdlover Leon Timms discovered a new use for his smartphone – to save an injured chaffinch.

Tree surgeon Mr Timms was watching TV when the chaffinch crashed into his home and collapsed to the ground.

Mr Timms, 37, picked up the stunned bird and had the flash of inspiration to use a bird-call app on his iPhone to help revive it.

After playing the sound of a chaffinch on his phone, the bird began to show signs of life.

After Mr Timms put the injured creature on the branch of a tree in his garden and played the app again, the chaffinch, fully recovered, flew off.

He said: "It's great that a smartphone helped in this situation. This is something I can Tweet about, although I'm quite new to Twitter and I only have 13 followers."

Mr Timms said: "I was watching TV with my wife, Emma, when we noticed something falling past the window.

"I went to have a look and saw a chaffinch, lying dazed on the ground. It must have flown into the solar panels on the roof or one of the upstairs windows.

"The bird looked like it was about to die any second. It was panting and struggling to breathe.

"I brought the chaffinch inside and starting stroking him on my lap. Then I came up with the idea of playing it the sound of another chaffinch on my mobile phone app.

"I popped the app on and almost immediately the bird's eyes opened. He seemed to become more alert.

"It had looked almost lifeless when I brought him into the house. I had thought he was on his last legs. But after I played the app it started to show signs of recovery.

"It definitely responded to the sound of another chaffinch."

Mr Timms bought the mobile phone app last year because lots of his customers were twitchers.

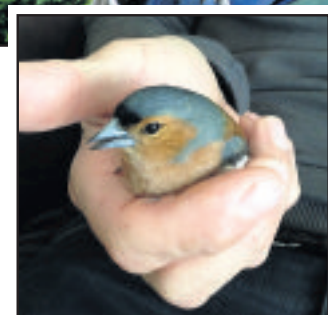

He added: "When I'm in the treetops I hear the birds singing right next to me. I got the app to show customers the different bird calls.

"I'm an animal lover and we always try to protect birds' nests when trees are being cut down.

"It has cost us a fortune in the past because finding a new home for a birds' nest can cause delays."

A BOARDED-up, empty property is to be made affordable housing after being bought by Cherwell District Council.

The building was closed about four years ago after the housing

■ Twelve-year-old boy – who is registered blind – wins drawing competition

Talented George shocks art judges

By Rhianne Pope

WHEN little George Nicholson started to lose his sight, he became withdrawn and lost a lot of his confidence.

But through his love of art and music, the 12-year-old is now living life to the full and embracing his artistic talents.

And last week he was named a winner in the Young Art Oxford competition – despite the judges knowing nothing about his condition which has left him with less than ten degrees of central vision. Most people have 120 degrees.

The Barford St Michael schoolboy said: "I didn't really think I'd win, so when I was told, it was really exciting. "I was about seven when they told me about my condition. I can't see around me. I can only see right in front of me. But I've got used to it."

George suffers with retinitis pigmentosa, an genetic eye condition which degenerates over time.

Many of his pictures portray people in shadows, demonstrating the way in which he views the world.

He said: "I really like art, I like using pastels. I draw a lot of comic characters."

His comic books, which include a trip back to the Titanic, have been copied around George's school – Bruern Abbey in Chesterton.

And earlier this year, he entered the county-wide Youth Art Competition. More than 1,800 other children submitted their pieces of artwork.

Judges chose George's piece, which depicts his friend standing in front of a tree, as the winner in the Years Four to Six category.

They had no idea he was registered blind.

George, who is also learning to play the guitar, said: "I just love to draw. It's my favourite thing."

His mother, Hetta Nicholson, said: "I am extremely proud of George. If you'd met him a few years ago, he was withdrawn and he'd lost his confidence.

"But through his art and the support of Bruern Abbey, he is so much more confident.

"He is a very strong boy."

George is now hoping to raise money for an electronic braille note-taker for his school, which will come in handy as his condition worsens.

He has designed a £30 note, which can be sold for a £30 donation to the cause.

A note-taker costs in the region of £3,000.

Mrs Nicholson said: "He is already starting to learn braille. This would be very useful for the future."

Any additional funds will go towards research in retinitis pigmentosa and helping other children with the condition.

Cheques should be made payable to Bruern Abbey School and sent to Bruern Abbey School, Chesterton, Oxfordshire, OX26 1UY.

George Nicholson, who only has very limited sight, has just won a county-wide competition, despite the judges not knowing about his condition OX51812

■ Cancer equipment is still left unused a year after donation

Charity fundraiser tells of his anger over gift

By Oliver Evans

A CHARITY has vowed not to give hospital bosses a penny from a new fundraising drive after they failed to use expensive equipment it had donated.

Gordon Vacher hopes to net thousands of pounds for The Oxford Laryngectomy Club – which helps local people with cancer of the throat – by selling exclusive clothing that has been donated by his employer, the Marussia F1 team.

But he said the Oxford University Hospitals NHS Trust won't get any because it has not used medical machines which were bought by the club after nine years of fundraising. The club spent £11,000 on two ear, nose and throat work stations as part of plans to move services from the John Radcliffe Hospital to the Churchill Hospital.

But the machines are still lying unused since being handed over a year ago because of a rethink over the move by hospital bosses. Mr Vacher, the factory manager at the Banbury-based F1 team, said the gift of more than 10,000 unwanted pieces of branded clothing could net the club more than £8,000 through sales at car boot fairs.

The team can no longer use items like jackets, hats and trousers as this year it changed its name from Marussia Virgin to Marussia F1.

The F1 team last year moved to Overthorpe Road, Banbury, from South Yorkshire, where it had raised £7,000 for a hospice with a similar clothing sale.

Team principal John Booth said: "Gordon has done a lot for the club and it seemed appropriate we channel it through him."

He said of the un-used hospital equipment: "The amount of work he has put into it, it must be extremely frustrating for him."

The trust said the equipment had not been used because it was reviewing where head and neck cancer services should be based – at the John Radcliffe Hospital or the Churchill's Oxford Cancer Centre.

■ AN alcoholic, who reported being robbed before later realising no such crime had taken place, has been sentenced for wasting police time. Julian Fannon admitted the charge at Oxford Crown Court. He reported that his wallet and watch were stolen on December 14 but failed to tell police when he realised he had not been the victim of a crime. The 33-year-old, of Jubilee Court, Banbury, was given a 12-month conditional discharge.

SWITCH AND SAVE WITH CARTRIDGE WORLD

The printer attached to your PC or laptop is a cost effective piece of kit. Whether it's for home or office use, you can buy a reliable one for around £100. However, when it comes to buying a compatible manufacturer's replacement cartridge, the cost can be eye watering expensive.

Fortunately there is a local alternative that not only offers massive savings on cartridges, but is also far more environmentally friendly. It's called Cartridge World and you'll find them at South Bar Street in Banbury.

"We produce cartridges that are compatible with all major brands of printers for home, education and business use," says store owner, John Starley.

"Cartridge World operates a 22-stage process that ensures that our printer cartridges are just as good – if not better – than the original. We are so sure you'll be happy with our service we offer a 100% money back guarantee if you aren't completely satisfied with any of our own brand cartridges."

Cartridge World is also keen to do business with local businesses. Its Business Direct service offers them an easy and efficient way to reduce their printing costs and includes a free collection and delivery service.

"Around 45 million cartridges go into landfill every year, each of which can take up to 1,000 years to decompose," John continues. "As well as saving money, recycling your cartridges is good for the environment. So why not make the most of your discount voucher and try Cartridge World next time you need a new printer cartridge."

Inventiveness is instrumental VIOLIN... Mandolin... Vocals... Musical saw. Glancing at the instruments used by Chris Short of Churchfitters reveals a different approach to performing.

And that's only one of the reasons why the flamboyant foursome make such an impact on their fans. Among them, Dave Pegg of Fairport Convention who described them as "the most musically inventive quartet I've seen in decades... A must."

"It was a chance meeting with Dave at Cropredy," says Chris, ahead of the continental folk group's return to The Mill.

"We were on the same bill in 2009 after he invited us, and he said hello. He said he could only stay for one song as he had to nip off and see someone else but he stayed the whole set.

"He's been an immense support since then and we're very grateful."

After raising the roof on their last visit to Banbury, the group are back to perform old favourites and material from their new album Amongst The Green which features uplifting choruses, adrenaline-pumped instrumentals and dark storylines, including the grisly London tale of Bleeding Heart Yard.

"We never run out of inspiration. The passion is still there.

"And our inventiveness is not just evident in our choice of instruments: the musical arrangements are unique to us.

By Liz Nicholls

"None of us would describe ourselves as virtuosos but we compensate for this by doing arrangements that surprise – you never know what's coming next."

Churchfitters started off as a duo formed of Chris and his song-writing sister Rosie (vocals, banjo, tin whistle, saxophone, dulcimer, ukulele, flute and percussion) whose husky blues and plaintive folk has been compared to "Annie Lennox in full flow". Making up the four are charismatic rocker Topher Loudon from Belfast (guitar, bouzouki and vocals) and Boris Lebre (saucepan bass, banjo and percussion) who adds an anarchic dose of Gallic punk. The four friends live in Brittany but love returning to England to perform a few times a year – with their decidedly mixed bag of instruments.

"Between the lot of us I wouldn't even hazard a guess at how many instruments we have on stage," admits Chris. "There's at least a couple of dozen. Boris plays homemade instruments such as cooking pots and a hub cab. The smallest is a bass made of a cigar box and a broken hacksaw. It can only make four notes – two are 'bing' and two are 'bong' so we call it the 'bingbong'."

So have the unexpected instruments always been a feature of Chris's music?

"I've been playing music as long as I can remember – when we were little, girls played the recorder and boys played the violin. A lady called us in from playtime and clapped out a little rhythm – if we could follow it we started music lessons, simple as that!

"But I remember seeing Lance Percival play the musical saw on television as a kid and it just shook me. Now, when we hear something that has an intriguing sound – a wheel, say – we think 'how can we make that sound into something beautiful?'

"Ninety-five per cent of the time I'm on stage I play the violin, but I like to mix it up. The different sounds add colour."

Uplifting and toe-tapping for fans and newcomers, Churchfitters are used to standing ovations. So do they see themselves ever achieving the fame of their acclaimed backers Fairport Convention?

"No way! Dave's a legend who's been at the top of his game for 45 years.

"Truthfully, if we can carry on making a living and having fun from our music, we'll be happy."

Churchfitters play at The Mill, Banbury next Friday (May 25). Call the box office on 01295 279002 or book at www.themillartscentre.co.uk. For more information about Churchfitters, visit www.churchfitters.com

Pick of gigs for this weekend

■ WITH his blend of jazz and rhythm & blues, Georgie Fame has become an icon of the British music scene. With 20 albums and 14 hit singles, including number ones Yeh Yeh, Getaway and The Ballad of Bonnie and Clyde, it's hard to think of a time when he hasn't been performing. A respected artist in his own right, he has also been responsible for mighty collaborations with some of music's most famous names – Muddy Waters, Gene Vincent, Bill Wyman, Eric Clapton and Van Morrison. This musical legend plays the Stables, Wavendon, Milton Keynes, tonight (Thurs). Sold out, but call 01908 280800 for details and cancellations.

■ THE same venue hosts a rather different kind of night tomorrow (Friday) – when it plays host to one of the leading proponents of the music of Noel and Liam Gallagher. They also happen to have one of the coolest names of any tribute act – Oasis! Expect all your favourite hits from the cocky Mancunians in a show which cunningly recreates the looks, the sound, and the attitude of Oasis. Is this the best gig in the area this weekend? Definitely... maybe! Tickets are £18.50. Go to www.stables.org or call 01908 280800.

■ GO back to the decade when greed was good... with a night dedicated to the music of the 1980s. Back To The '80s, hosted by DJ Eddie Fitz at The Assembly, in Leamington, tomorrow (Friday) is a celebration of big hair, fingerless luminous pink gloves and leg warmers... oh, and some pretty funky music from the likes of Wham, Depeche Mode, Duran Duran, Human League, The Specials, The Bangles, Rick Astley and Ah Ha. Tickets are £3 in advance and on the door before 11pm, and £5 after. Last entry is at 12.30am. Go to leamingtonassembly.com

■ Ex-Love And Money front man James Satrud plays at The Banbury Mill on Saturday, marking a big year for the critically acclaimed singer/songwriter. After last year's sell-out performance, he returns armed with his just-released Best Of album and the new Love And Money opus The Devil's Debt. His writing style has been compared to Leonard Cohen and Tom Waits, and his guitar playing compared to Eric Clapton. As well as playing with Ewan Vernal (from Deacon Blue), has has worked with Tom Verlaine of Television and Jeffrey Porcaro of Toto. Call 01295 279002 or visit www.themillartscentre.co.uk for tickets

Movie where no subject is off limits

THE DICTATOR (15, 83 mins)
Comedy/Romance. Sacha Baron Cohen, Anna Faris, Sir Ben Kingsley, Adeel Akhtar, John C Reilly, Kevin Corrigan, Kathryn Hahn. Director: Larry Charles.

Sacha Baron Cohen atones for the sins of Bruno with this gleefully bad taste fish-out-of-water comedy, which kicks sand in the eye of political correctness.

We're in a perpetual state of discomfort during The Dictator, unsure where the scriptwriters might venture next for uneasy laughs.

No subject is off limits – the September 11 attacks, rape, sexual equality, Judaism – and Larry Charles's film tramples merrily over social taboos, hitting more targets than it misses as the titular despot runs amok in the capitalist playground of New York City.

We can't resist a wry smile when Cohen's abominable protagonist makes a speech to American dignitaries and exposes the Land Of The Free as a dictatorship in all but name.

A flash of full-frontal male nudity takes us by hysterical surprise and Megan Fox and Edward Norton enjoy brief cameos as themselves.

Like Borat and Bruno, Cohen is at the centre of the madness, relying on a script this time rather than inspired improvisation with the unsuspecting public.

He plays Admiral General Aladeen, tyrannical ruler of the African state of Wadiya, who is hiding the real Bin Laden in one of his opulent palace's spare rooms.

"You go to the bathroom after Osama, you will know the true meaning of terrorism," he confides. During a visit to "the Devil's nest" of America to address the United Nations about his nuclear arsenal, Aladeen is usurped by his duplicitous brother Tamir (Sir Ben Kingsley) and cast adrift on the streets, without his trademark beard or any form of identification.

Sacha Baron Cohen, plays Admiral General Aladeen, in The Dictator

Zoeey (Anna Faris), the tomboyish manager of a vegan feminist non-profit co-operative, takes pity on Aladeen, who she accepts as an immigrant called Allison Burgers.

Sparks of romance are continually extinguished by Aladeen's bigotry.

The Dictator delights and disturbs, careening from razor sharp satire to a Monty Python-esque birthing scene, shot through the dilating cervix of the expectant mother (Kathryn Hahn).

If you judge Charles's film based on the number of belly laughs it packs into 83 minutes and ignore the occasional lulls, it's a rousing success.

Some gags are so jaw-droppingly offensive, you can feel the oxygen being sucked out of the cinema – such as when Aladeen excitedly plays the Munich Olympics level of his Wii Terrorist 2K12 video game and guns down helpless Israeli athletes.

Faint hearts beware.

Nathan Hawkes, who clocked up a score of 157

Hawkes is hero for Banbury

NATHAN Hawkes hit a brilliant 157 to set Banbury on the way to a 79-run victory at Bishop's Stortford in Division 1.

The Oxfordshire batsman's towering ton came off 109 balls with nine fours and 12 sixes.

It took Banbury to an impressive 302-6 dec off 61 overs after skipper Ian Hawtin won the toss and chose to bat.

Hawkes was given good support in a stand of 186 for the fourth wicket by Richard West, whose unbeaten 78 came off 156 balls with six fours and three sixes. Off spinner Jimmy Phillips then took centre stage with 5-69 as Bishop's Stortford were bowled out for 223.

Alex Keath top-scored for the hosts with 59, his runs coming in 80 balls with three fours and four sixes, before he became one of Phillips's five victims.

Health matters slowly but surely seem to be improving and the way you view your life seems to be from a much more positive angle nowadays. Visitors from far away may be a nuisance but will actually turn out to be a blessing in disguise when you hear all the news they have to bring with them. Give me a call now to hear why it's worth accepting new invites from new friends.

LIBRA

Sep 23-Oct 22

Happy times are predicted for you my friend. I know you've been through a lot and I also know that you're now coming through the other side. You've made a new friend in the process and this is proved by plans you make with them for the month ahead. Don't push family for secrets or you may regret what they tell you. Give me a call now to utilise the full magic of your stars.

0906 585 4366

TAURUS

Apr 20-May 20

Family didn't seem to understand all that you've been through lately, but have you stopped to ask yourself why this may be so. Why don't you try talking to them about how you feel and all that you've been through? It should just give you the support you thought was unavailable. Things going wrong with personal devices cost money. Be prepared to save. Call now for your romantic overview.

0906 585 4361

SCORPIO

Oct 23-Nov 21

Your psychic side comes to the fore and you start to realise who your friends and enemies are. You won't let them know of your knowledge of course, but you will use it to your full advantage. Watch out for friends telling tales on you about last week. Don't tell lies, even white ones, as others could already know more than you think. Give me a ring now to hear which sign is your perfect match.

0906 585 4367

GEMINI

May 21-Jun 20

Love and lust are getting confused and it wouldn't do you any harm to take some time out to review who you are and what you want out of life again. Meetings in work need preparation so put some extra time in before Thursday please. It's sure to put you ahead of your game. Check your diary, aspects indicate you're about to forget an important date. Ring now for your week in full.

0906 585 4362

SAGITTARIUS

Nov 22-Dec 21

Bad news is really good, as you'll find out for yourself by the time this week is over. You've been looking at life as if the glass is half empty, when actually it is half full. Look on the positive side and you'll start to see just how many possibilities your life is full of. New additions to the family make for a really happy time. Ring me now to find out what else your stars have in store.

0906 585 4368

CANCER

Jun 21-Jul 22

Work seems to be taking over your life in the days ahead as you try to complete something which is going to have a direct effect on your reputation. Beware please of allowing others to do any of your work for you, as you are likely to end up regretting it. You may be better to sacrifice some of your personal time, even though you've done so already. Ring now to hear why this is so.

0906 585 4363

CAPRICORN

Dec 22-Jan 19

Younger faces need your time and advice. Now normally you'd give it, but this week you seem to be busier than usual. Try to make time, as you can make a bigger difference than you think to the decisions they make at this time. Ring me now and I'll tell you a great big juicy secret.

0906 585 4369

LEO

Jul 23-Aug 22

The line up this week offers you fresh hope about a relationship which has been going through a rather difficult phase of late. Don't rule out looking at new career paths. It should turn out to be just what the doctor ordered once you've made the initial plunge. Also a good week to ask for promotions. Anything is possible, with confidence. Call me now so that I can help you to find it.

0906 585 4364

AQUARIUS

Jan 20-Feb 18

Your career comes under the spotlight and you finally get the chance to have a say about how you do your job. Those of you who are not or have not been working, will find this is a really lucky time to apply for one. You may want to re-think your dress sense which has been lacking of late. You're a good looking sign and it's time to show it again. Call now so I can boost your confidence.

0906 585 4370

VIRGO

Aug 23-Sep 22

Make sure that you've read all documents, emails and texts this week as you may have missed some important points which can make all the difference to the decisions you make in your life. You've been neglecting a family member who needs your advice, time and guidance. Try to put some time aside one night this week to see them. Call me now to take a look at those finances in detail.

0906 585 4365

PISCES

Feb 19-Mar 20

Your cash flow is not as fluid as you would like it to be, which is why you'd be wise to plan what you want to do sooner rather than later as your stars seem to show that something at some point is going to have to give. A run in with a face from your past helps you to make sense of what did or did not happen. Give me a call now to hear how Saturn favours you making up with close ones.

Ripe for change

By Gill Oliver

BUYERS looking for a home which can suit their every need should consider a redevelopment project.

A good example is Primrose Farm in the village of Arlescote on the edge of North Oxfordshire.

This is a Grade II-listed farmhouse located near the site of the Battle of Edgehill, scene of the opening pitched battle of the English Civil War.

Agents say the site offers significant potential for improvement.

It comprises a farmhouse, outbuildings and 130 acres of ring-fenced pasture and woodland. The property is available as a whole or in three separate lots.

The holding includes both modern and traditional outbuildings, which are situated in a courtyard around the house and provide an opportunity to convert either for further accommodation or diversified use.

The property also enjoys a commanding position close to the Edge Hill escarpment and provides breathtaking views over open countryside.

For more information and to book in a viewing call agents Bidwells on 01865 790116 or visit bidwells.co.uk

HOUSE PRICES NATIONWIDE MANAGE TO GO UP AND DOWN

House prices slipped 2.4% in April, the Halifax reported this morning, more than wiping out March's rise of 2.2%. The average house price now stands at a seasonally adjusted £159,883, says Halifax - lower than Nationwide now makes it.

However, Nationwide seems undecided as to whether house prices are going down or up.

Indeed, thanks to Nationwide, it seems possible that they are doing both, courtesy of our old friend 'seasonal adjustment'.

In March the average house price was £163,327. In April house prices then went down – or up, depending on which way you look at it – to £164,134, according to Nationwide.

We suspect that most of the fearless property media commentators went straight to Nationwide's own prophet of doom, otherwise known as its chief economic adviser, Robert Gardner.

He certainly seemed to think prices had gone down, saying: "The price of a typical UK home fell by 0.2% in April, following a 1% decline in March."

Ah yes, that 1% decline – the one where house prices went down (as Nationwide seems to prefer that word to 'up') from £162,712 in February to £163,327.

We think there is only one thing to do with seasonal adjustment. Take it outside and shoot it.

With more than 50 Acts of Parliament and 70 sets of regulations which landlords should be aware of, letting is a complex, specialist field. Contact Maria Lucas, Managing Director of Let Lucas Rental Specialists on 01295 234717 for a consultation with a qualified, licensed letting expert.
